position, Britt informed Roche that he had seen Manager Coffroth of the Yosemite Club, who expressed a willingness to rent the Mechanic's Pavilion to the San Francisco Club for November 16, and furthermore to make no objection to the Supervisors extending the permit into his month. Unless the

Why, the cooking'll almost do itself; no, it won't. Does the family sewing do itself?

Cigar Smoker's Protection

The band on Cremo cigars is to protect the smoker. It stands for reputation; for quality; uniformity and cleanliness. It stands for a cigar not ashamed of its identity.

FLOODING OF JULIAN MINE.

Attributed to President of the Corporation.

Sensational Lawsuit Over Deal that Was Never Done.

Pomona Banker on the Witness Stand, Accused of Funny Business.

A spicy sensation involving G. A. Lathrop, president of the Pomona Bank, and well known locally as a mining promoter, dropped out of a lawsuit on trial before Judge Wilbur yesterday.

Once again was illustrated the extreme folly of writing deadly secrets in letters which may afterward turn up.

Two such letters fell like a thunder-bolt into the case yesterday to accuse Lathrop of double dealing.

It is as president of the Julian Consolidated Mining Company that Lathrop is accused by the plaintiffs of having played a game of "cut-throat"—though Lathrop probably will asseverate, when his turn comes, that he was acting for the best interests of the company.

The story, as it was told yesterday in court, would make a dramatic novel.

to make a stake for each of us. You no doubt are doing exactly what I recommend. However, the suggestion can do no harm.

"As soon as we can shake Lathrop loose, we will then lay our plans for campaign, as we think best for all concerned."

"Be careful or you will get the people down there sketched. If there is anything I can do, call me by telephone."

"G. A. LATHROP."

Another letter was introduced, which was supposed to throw additional light upon the above. This is also to Judson.

In the letter Lathrop says that he has been keeping out of the way of Maj. Russell until the options shall expire. He says they have been trying to see him, but he has been careful they should not.

He says he has written East about the telephone in the Julian district, explaining there all unknown to the owners of the property.

The attorneys for Lathrop claim that these letters do not bind the company.

5G LEHMER

G-A LATHROP

It is claimed that Lathrop had secret information as to the exact value of a mine. The owners gave one S. G. Lehmer an option of forty days to sell it for $75,000.

THE ALLEGED PLOT.

Lehmer found a purchaser and the property which had this great secret was about to pass to other hands. To prevent this, Lathrop is alleged to have entered into an intrigue with Lehmer's own expert, and to have kept the mine flooded, like the flood of yore, for forty days and forty nights until the option expired. Lehmer's party not being able to see the property, of course went away, and Lathrop held possession of the mine.

As only one side of the case has been exploited, Lathrop's story has not been told yet. He undoubtedly will make strong denials and explanations.

Lehmer's assignee is suing the Julian Consolidated Mining Company, of which Lathrop is president, for $10,000 damages. The mines in controversy are in San Diego county.

The letters were introduced in quite a dramatic fashion.

Lathrop's lawyers had been showing by other witnesses that there was nothing in the story of the flooded mine.

They had made Lehmer concede that he knew that the mine was run by the water which came into it; they made him admit that the mine could only be kept clear of water at a direct loss to the mine; they made him agree that he might have told them that he and his expert had already been through the mine with a view of reporting to Maj. H. M. Russell, the prospective purchaser.

People were beginning to wonder what Lehmer had brought suit for, when Attorney Works called Lathrop to the witness stand.

He handed up a letter, and asked if it were in his handwriting. Lathrop read it clear through, and said, in a voice that could not be heard ten feet, that it was.

After a tremendous fight to keep it out, the letter was read aloud to the court; it was as follows:

LATHROP'S LETTER.

"Alfred F. Judson (Lehmer's expert):

"Dear Sir: From reports coming to Los Angeles, I suppose Lehmer and party have been out, and I hope you and Howell (the mine superintendent) have managed things all O. K."

"I wrote Howell to let the bottoms of both mines fill with water, so they could be out of sight."

"I would advise that you look the whole district over carefully. I believe you can find several places to locate property that would sell for something when we get the boom started."

"Be careful not to say tellurium, as no one ever dreams of this. Howell can get you around to all the property."

"I hope we can manage the business

EPISCOPAL CLERICUS.

The first meeting of the clerics of the Episcopal Church, following the summer recess, was held on Monday in the City Jail, and repeats the weird story about a burglar having assaulted the boy, Ernest, and himself.

Ernest is at the California Hospital, out of danger, and doing finely despite his broken head and slashed throat and scalp. He has not swerved a jot from the recital of the attempted murder which brands his father as a monstrous criminal—or maniac.

Barnett presided at a unusual study in criminology: Lombroso might have found him a puzzle.

Barnett's demeanor in prison is as remarkable as his crime. Facing a felony charge, hideous in its nature, he is calmness itself. He smiles on occasion, talks intelligently, carries himself easily. He does not act the part of a man mildly enduring an unjust accusation; he is the part.

There is never a tremor in his voice; no spasm of terrible remembrance contracts his face; there are no sudden hand clutches, nor tremors. When the police accuse him with overwhelming evidence of his guilt he regards them calmly from his gray eyes and does not protest. Yet, if questioned, he says that a burglar was the culprit.

When talking to Barnett you can notice nothing peculiar in his conversation; nothing but intelligence in his countenance.

Yet this is the man who slipped from bed where his only son was asleep; crossed the floor noiselessly to a chest of tools lying in a corner; picked out a hammer, tip-toed back and picked out a spot on his boy's sailor's brow, crashed the iron against that head with fendish fury.

More fiendish than ever when the boy was awakened by this blow, Barnett tried to complete his diabolical work with a razor, and slashed and hacked blindly.

If Barnett is and was in full possession of his faculties and controlled his actions, he manifests a satanic cunning; if he is insane he is without the cunning almost invariably found in dangerous lunatics.

FOR SPANISH-AMERICANS.

Missionary Movement to Start an Institutional Church Work in "Socorro"—Peons Helping Themselves.

The Spanish Congregational Church, which has been organized for some time and is now worshipping in a small building on Alpine street, has evolved a plan for a more general work among the Spanish-speaking people of the city.

The work is in the hands of Missionary Aiden B. Case, who for twenty years has devoted his life to the dissemination of Christianity among these people. His plan is to come down onto New Highstreet, more convenient to the crowds of Mexicans who gather about the Plaza, and establish an institutional work on a limited scale.

Mr. Case's efforts will be directed toward securing a building not only suited for church purposes, but for reading-room, night school, entertainments and such forms of amusement as will prove entertaining to the people and helpful in his work. He already has over $500 in hand as a nucleus for the fund, and asks the cooperation of benevolent people to carry it to success.

The project was presented to the recent Congregational convention held in this city and received its hearty commendation, and was recommended to the support of the Congregational churches of Southern California. It is commendable that the little band of Spanish-Americans now belonging to the church have themselves paid $100 into the fund for the new building.

Mr. Case makes his headquarters at the Good Samaritan home on San Fernando street. He is a native of Connecticut, and is a young man of education and devotion to his chosen work, which is proposed to conduct on non-denominational lines.

Double Block for Temple and Convention Hall

PROPOSED BAPTIST BUILDING—THE BUSINESS END.

THE architects' plans for the great Baptist temple and public convention hall, which it is proposed to erect on some available site near the business center of Los Angeles, are completed, and in the hands of the committee having the building scheme in charge.

Architects Marsh & Russell completed their drawings in detail and perspective several days ago, and turned all the drafts, etchings, figures and documents over to Chairman C. R. Harris of the Temple Committee for final consideration. Mr. Harris, who is a mechanical engineer of renown, and is understood to have furnished most of the ideas for the contemplated structure, has called a meeting of the committee and members of Bethel Baptist Church for this evening, when the plans and drawings of the proposed building will be submitted for inspection and action.

The exhibits will include a perspective view of the gigantic structure as proposed by the architects, a facsimile of which, in reduced size, is herewith presented. The picture will give some idea of the magnificent proportions of the projected building, or more correctly speaking, buildings, for it will be in the form of two immense sky-scrapers, back to back, and fronting on parallel streets, with a great auditorium resembling the Mormon Tabernacle at Salt Lake City between them.

The buildings facing the two streets will be eight stories in height; the ground floor being devoted to entrances and exits and commodious storerooms. The second and third stories will be arranged so as to be adaptable to manufacturing purposes, and the upper five stories of one and three stories of the other, to offices. A large, two-story Sunday-school room or hall for general meetings is provided for in one of the eight-story structures.

Prior to the adoption or rejection of the plans tonight, the architects and members of the Temple Committee would give out no detailed information about the plans and specifications, other than what has already been stated in a general way by The Times.

So confident are they, however, that the plans proposed will be adopted, and that the project will go forward, that half-tone cuts of the proposed structure have already been made to embellish a prospectus of the stock company which is to erect and operate the building. Copies of this prospectus are to be forwarded to Rev. Robert J. Burdette in the East, as soon as possible, so that he can interest eastern financiers in the enterprise. There is at least one multi-millionaire of the Baptist persuasion, who, it is believed, can be induced to subscribe for at least $500,000 worth of the stock, as a safe and sound investment, if not simply for the sake of helping a good cause. It is figured that the rentals from the stores and offices will pay all interest on the par value of the stock.

A site has not yet been procured, but several good ones are being kept in view. The favored sites seem to be between Main and Spring streets, between Spring and Broadway, or between Broadway and Hill, not farther south than Ninth street.

PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICIALS.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Building Committee yesterday decided to make such changes in the building laws as will permit the Collins Hotel to be constructed under modified specifications.

Arrangements for the Unger funeral today were completed yesterday.

Mayor Snyder recovered a lost checkbook yesterday.

The commission appointed to look into the matter of the consolidation of the city and county governments reported yesterday to the Board of Supervisors.

Councilman Robert Todd was admitted to practice law yesterday.

In the Police Court yesterday John C. Hennessey was charged with robbing Mrs. Max Basch.

J. Walter Reed arrived from St. Louis yesterday and was arranged for embezzling the funds of the Canners' Association.

AT THE CITY HALL.

BRICK FOUNDATION FOR COLLINS HOTEL.

BUILDING LAWS WILL BE MADE TO COVER THE CASE.

Architects Give Expert Opinions Before the Council Building Committee. Opinion Expressed that Building Must Be Fireproof.

As a result of the session of the Building Committee of the Council yesterday the plans for the construction of the eleven-story Collins Hotel on Olive street, just north of Third street, will be materially modified. After hearing the opinions of expert architects, the committee decided to recommend to the Council a change in the ordinance whereby the hotel can be built to the full height under special building restrictions.

The hotel as planned will rise above the level of Olive street just the sixty-five feet prescribed by ordinance, but owing to the steep slope of the ground toward Clay street, the building at the rear will be 125 feet from the ground to the cornice. In order that the frame structure will not exceed the sixty-five feet, the Council will provide that the building to the level of Olive street must be fireproof.

To further insure the safety of this tall structure the builders will be required to use expanded metal mesh pacer with mineral wool, similar to oil-cell throughout.

Attorney W. E. Dunn appeared for the hotel people yesterday morning and addressed the committee at length on the issues involved. He contended that the present ordinance providing that no frame building shall exceed more than sixty-five feet above the natural surface of the earth must refer to the level of the principal street on which the building faces. Col. J. W. Eddy and Architect A. L. Haley also spoke for the hotel people.

Col. Eddy was particularly desirous that no action be taken by the Council that would prevent the building of the 80-foot dome with clock and chimneys which is designed to rise from the top of the big hotel, and above that one large tower and smaller minarets. While all the superstructure will be more than sixty-five feet above the level of Olive street, the committee decided that the provision of the ordinance should only apply to living apartments.

Architects John Parkinson and J. C. Austin, who were called in consultation by the committee, along with Building Superintendent Julius Krause, expressed very conservative views. Architect Parkinson thought that every possible precaution ought to be observed in the construction of such a tall building in a city where fire is so prevalent. He said that the building should be made as fireproof as possible, as fire might result in the loss of many lives, especially if many people were on the roof garden at the time the flames were discovered.

"If the building was constructed of brick to the level of Olive street, proper care taken to support the upper stories and metal mesh backed with fireproof material placed in the exterior walls and a city fire department throughout the building, I should say that would make a very good building," declared Superintendent Parkinson, pointing to the drawings on the table.

Neither of the consulting architects looked with favor on the proposed towers. They inclined to the belief that the building would be high enough without them, and that it would be difficult to brace a frame building to support such a high superstructure. The towers were rejected by the committee, however.

If the Council adopts the report of the committee, Superintendent Krause will issue a building permit for the hotel next week.

UNGER FUNERAL.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES.

Impressive ceremonies will mark the funeral today of E. E. Unger, the first city official to die in office for many years. Nearly all the city employees will attend the obsequies. Handsome floral offerings will be sent by each department, and the coffin will be fairly banked with flowers.

The line of march will be south on Spring street to Third, west on Third to Broadway, north on Broadway to First, east on First to San Pedro street, where carriages and street cars will be in waiting for those who wish to go to the cemetery.

The city officials and employees will gather at the City Hall at 9:30 a. m. Lieut. Col. W. G. Schreiber will have charge of the division following immediately after the remains. The Elks will meet at their social quarters at 9:15 sharp. C. W. Fleming, Esquire of the lodge, will act as marshal.

At a meeting of city officials and employees held at 5 o'clock last night, the following resolutions were adopted: "Resolved, that we, the officers and employees of the city of Los Angeles, in meeting assembled this 29th day of October, 1935, do hereby express our deep sense of the loss we have suffered by the death of our well-loved associate and friend, Elijah E. Unger."

"Resolved, that by his death, the community has lost a loyal and respected citizen, and the city has been deprived of the services of a faithful and competent officer, whose sterling worth and ability were well attested by his election to the responsible position of City Auditor of the city of Los Angeles."

"Resolved, that we do hereby express our profound sympathy with the bereaved family, and our earnest hope that their sorrow may be in some measure tempered, as ours is, by the knowledge that while we are suffering with patience, sleep was the gift he most desired, and that although his companionship is lost to us, the influence of his life and character will long remain an inspiration to us."

OBJECT TO FIGHTS.

WARM ON THE FIRING LINE.

There is yet no sign of abatement in the demand made upon members of the Council to prohibit prize fighting, or boxing contests, within the city limits. Resolutions come rolling in with great regularity. Nearly every mail brings to the members of the Council an expression from some organization and nearly all are against the fistie exhibitions. Those who favor the boxing contests are making their campaign very quietly and under cover.

In addition to the resolutions passed by the Council Hill Improvement Association yesterday night the Councilmen resolved the following resolution yesterday signed by Francis Murphy, the temperance oracle, E. C. Angewine, J. E. De la Mora, L. N. Richards, Charles S. Lamb and Harry P. Koster, a committee appointed at a meeting in Blanchard Hall:

"Whereas, it has come to our knowledge that a structure is being erected on Third street, this line of the tunnel, which is to be devoted to the exhibition of prize fighting; and, whereas, we believe that this so-called sport (which has been universally recognized as a most vicious and degrading activity, and one which is inimical to the young men, and we believe will be a menace to the safety and property of our citizens, and it will be a foul blot on the face of our beautiful city; therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, the citizens of Los Angeles, here assembled, residing in the various wards of the city, do solemnly request the members of the City Council to take immediate action in the matter, and we hereby urge the passage of an ordinance prohibiting prize fighting within the city limits of Los Angeles."

In reply to this the fight promoters urge that they are not conducting prize fights, but boxing contests which are authorized by State law. This line of distinction will doubtless not avail the proponents of the same much before the City Council meets. The Council will take a broad view of the issue and act accordingly.

Davenport's position is causing the so-called liberal members of the Council some uneasiness, as they are to force all boxing exhibitions to go east of Main street and north of First street.

BOOK RETURNED.

MAYOR AND THE BANKERS.

Mayor Snyder is very skeptical of bankers. If any more delegations come his way he intends to leave all his money at home, including his check book. The Wisconsin band of bankers certainly gave the Mayor a "run for his money."

It wasn't a confidence game exactly. In his career as Police Commissioner, Councilman and Mayor the present Chief Executive has run the gamut of almost everything in the way of dealing, but he takes off his hat to the bankers.

It happened in this wise. Mayor Snyder extended the freedom of the city, the glad hand, and as it appears several other things to the visiting bankers the latter part of last week. One day he went for an automobile ride, and the eastern financiers were just as nice and appreciative as could be.

But when the Mayor returned to the City Hall he was seen to grasp wildly at his breast pocket.

"I lost my check book," he cried. "Woe is me. Alack the day I ever intrusted myself to those bankers."

A search was made for the missing book, but it was of no avail. Next morning the Mayor burned off the telephone connection at his bank trying to stop payment on checks that he imagined were being presented to the cashier every minute.

And yesterday an inoffensive gentleman named C. P. Thompson came in and left the book with the Mayor. Thompson is a close friend of the Mayor and he received a delegation of eastern bankers.

Meet and Adjourn.

Both the Police Commission and the Board of Health met yesterday and adjourned without transacting any business on account of the death of city auditor Unger. The police board will meet Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and the Board of Health Thursday evening.

ONE TAX COLLECTOR MAY BE A JOB SHY.

CONSOLIDATION PLAN PRESENTED TO SUPERVISORS YESTERDAY.

Commission Suggests that the Taxes All be Collected by One Official, but Further Consolidations Have Been Suggested.

The report on the proposed consolidation of the city and county governments was made yesterday to the Board of Supervisors by the committee, Frank G. Finlayson and Walter F. Haas.

The commission recommends that the offices of Tax Collector and Assessor be consolidated. It is stated that in the opinion of the County Assessor the additional expense of collecting the city tax would be practically nothing.

The report sets up a bill which it is proposed to bring before the Legislature, also a proposed amendment to the charter of the city.

Although no other consolidations were recommended, it was stated that the board had not adjourned sine die, and would meet at any time at the call of the chair.

The provisions of the bill provide that any municipality in the State may, at any time, consolidate its taxes with those of the county if desired. It is also provided that in case this is done, the city and county shall at the same time and place as county and state taxes, and one receipt shall be given for the same on the same day. Such taxes shall be collected by the County Tax Collector. The Clerk of the County shall be responsible for the collection of its taxes by the county officers before the time of extension of the city and county taxes. The bill shall certify to the County Auditor the rate of tax levied by the city for the current year, in order that the county and state taxes may be adjusted at the same time.

It is also provided that no ordinance shall take effect until the vote has been taken on the consolidation.

COUNCILMAN TODD.

NOW A LAWYER.

Councilman "Bob" Todd is a lawyer now. He was admitted to the bar yesterday, after a brilliant examination before the Supreme Court. He was examined by Justice Van Dyke, who put him through a stiff test. Mr. Todd was vouched for by Attorneys Goudge, Matthews, W. E. Dunn and Frank P. Flint.

The full list of candidates admitted yesterday was: William G. Randall, Robert A. Todd, W. B. Taylor, Walter Smith, Minomen, Bert Harley E. Higgins, George Lull, Albert S. Van Eiten, Frank J. Walker, Thomas G. Toland, Volney H. Craig, John W. Shenk, Jr., J. M. Danziger, Carl Schultz.

Detective Murphy arrived from St. Louis yesterday with a charge against J. Walter Reed, who skipped from the city September 25, with a wad of money belonging to the California Fruit Canners' Association.

Mrs. Reed's affection for her husband has not weakened as a consequence of his dishonesty and infidelity, and when she learned that he was on his way here with the detective she took a train for San Bernardino and there met her recent spouse. That was the end of the matter. Reed was arraigned on two charges of embezzling funds of the Canners' Association. He was held in lieu of $10,000.

Raw Burglars, These.

L. J. Hippe and Roy B. Cooper, a couple of raw burglars, are being held on $1000 bail each, for examination on a charge of entering the room of Mrs. Cora Tippen, on East Third street, and stealing a purse containing about $25 in cash and a check for a small amount.

They rented a room across the hall from Mrs. Tippen and watched until she had left her room for a moment, when Hippe quietly crossed the hall and gathered up her cash. Cooper went with him and sharing the plunder after it had been stashed away.

They went to Redondo and remained there until the money was gone, and then had the hardihood to come back to the city and cash the check, one of them representing himself as the brother of Mrs. Tippen, whose husband is in Arizona.

Spitters Spanked.

The removal of the Orphanum to Spring street has transferred the brigade of sidewalk-spitters to the new quarter, where they loaf around and spit tobacco juice on the sidewalk. Thirteen of the spitters were arrested in the Police Court and fined $5 each for violating the ordinance which prohibits expectorating on the sidewalk. They were all arraigned in front of the Orphanum on Monday night, and it is thought to have a salutary effect.

Freeman's Easy Graft.

Frank Freeman, who dreamed what a cinch it would be to go out around Westlake Park, and watch for solitary couples who might be found in some compromising position, when all judicious people had left the park, was arraigned yesterday on a charge of extortion.

He represented himself as a special officer, calling himself "Jim Parvett," and easily secured money from a young man whom he found there with his lady love.

He wanted $100 or two to think it over before entering a plea, and was given until Saturday, bail being fixed at $100.

"CITIZEN" MILES VIEWS THE OLD LANDMARKS.

GOES TO SEE PONIES WITHOUT THE PINK WHISKERS.

Former Commander of the U. S. Army Enjoys Himself in Los Angeles With Old Friends—Plans for the Reception This Evening.

Citizen Nelson A. Miles, former Lieutenant-General commanding the Army of the United States, has spent another pleasant day in Los Angeles. Citizen Miles was quite busy enjoying himself yesterday, and he is having such a good time that he will spend yet another day in the Angel City, where he had his headquarters fifteen years ago.

The distinguished soldier, who is done with war and dress parades forever, among these should be an emergency call for his further services as defense of his country, or his country's honor, thinks it is just as prudent to be plain citizen again, a high private in the rank of fellow citizens.

Being somewhat of a horseman himself, as his interest in the old landmarks demonstrated, the "honorable" at Agricultural Park have seen a great deal of Citizen Miles. He had such a good time at the races yesterday, in exchange many years ago, when Miles was an Indian fighter and a contractor and freighter for the army. That friendship has not faded, and the general was Col. Norton's guest at a little family dinner at Col. Norton's on Monday evening.

The two old cronies did not get through talking over the good times of the past yesterday morning. Col. Norton hitched up his team and took Gen. Miles sightseeing around the city. They drove through miles and miles of thickly-populated territory, where nothing but orchards and cow pastures assisted when the general was a resident of Los Angeles in the latter part of the '80's.

What interested the general most was the old landmarks. He asked Col. Norton to drive him up to the Crocker mansion on Olive street, a corner of Third and Olive streets, which was the most pretentious residence property in Los Angeles fifteen years ago.

Another old landmark that interested Gen. Miles greatly was the old St. Vincent's College building on South Hill street below Sixth, now occupied as a temporary home by the Y. M. C. A. This ancient structure was army headquarters when Gen. Miles was commander of the Department of the Pacific.

At that time the old building stood in the center of a green lawn that covered half a block. It is now crowded on the same lot the Hotel Brunswick, the office building of the City Telephone Company and several other buildings. Col. Norton took Gen. Miles to the old Thimble Hall, from his offices in the Thimble Hall, look right down into the back yard of the old army headquarters building.

G. A. R. RECEPTION.

Tonight Gen. Miles' Grand Army comrades in Los Angeles propose to do him honor. Stanton Post will tender him a public reception at the Chamber of Commerce at 8 o'clock this evening. Gen. Miles was made a member of the Grand Army of the Republic in Stanton Post in March, 1897, when he was commanding the Department of the Southwest. The late Gen. Lawrence, who was then a captain on Gen. Miles' staff, was mustered into Stanton Post the same evening. Both retained their membership in the post until their deaths.

Gen. Miles will probably proceed to San Francisco Thursday if he can tear himself away from his old associations in Los Angeles so soon.

"Why don't you tell your husband it's wrong to play any game for money?" said the woman who always trumps her partner's ace.

"I don't like to spoil Charlie's amusement," said young Mrs. Torkins. "Besides, he isn't nearly as bad as the others. He never wins."—(Washington Star.)

NOSE

Chronic or ulcerative causes ulcers to form which produce scabs and foetid breath, first one and then the other nostril is stopped up. The mucous membrane, when in a healthy condition, secretes a thin, watery fluid called mucus, which serves as a lubricant to the parts. Mucus is, in reality, certain watery elements of the blood which are filtered through the blood vessels lying immediately beneath and next to the mucous membrane. When the vessels of the nose become thickened and the blood vessels are congested and the flow of mucus is augmented to a greater degree, according to the severity of the attack. No local application alone will ever known to cure catarrh of the nose. By using S. B. Catarrh Cure locally and internally as directed a speedy cure can be relied upon.

This remedy is for sale by all leading druggists everywhere, or sent direct to you, charges prepaid, upon receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle, six bottles for $5.00. Smith Bros., Manufacturers, Fresno, Cal. Call or write them for circular on catarrh.

ASSAULTED AND TERRIBLY BEATEN WOMAN UNHURT.

No "Nervous Prostration," No "Shattered Bones of the Hand" and No "Serious Condition" as Basis for Fake Used as Capital Against Police.

The latest atrocious outrage perpetrated by the fiendish desperado who stalks abroad with impunity and laugh at the police, came to light yesterday. Mrs. H. W. Coe, a widow conducting a lodging-house at No. 612 South Los Angeles street, was the victim. She returned to her kitchen early Monday morning to find a young man hitting her trunk with a hatchet. Seeing he was discovered, the fellow rudely pushed her hand to one side, bending her forefinger, and fled into the daylight.

Here is exactly what Mrs. Coe said about the affair to a Times reporter last evening: "That report in the Record was awfully exaggerated. It said I was 'assaulted and terribly beaten,' that I was in a state bordering on nervous prostration, and that the 'bones in my hand were shattered by a blow.' There is not one word of truth to all that, for young Johnson did not hurt me, and I know did not intend to. I was standing in the doorway through which he wanted to get out, and as I raised my hand he put up one hand and pushed me to the side, bending my forefinger back."

"The thief rented a room of me here for two months last summer. He said his name was Harry Johnson, and that he worked in the kitchen. He was a nice-looking young fellow about 20 years old, and that is all I know about him."

"Johnson robbed me once before—about two months ago. We were having a friendly talk in the kitchen when my niece drove up, and I went out in front to talk to her in her carriage. When I came back Johnson was gone, and I knew in a minute that he had robbed me. I had left the key in my trunk, and he had opened it and taken $70."

"Early Monday morning I went over to the school back of here to put the child of one of my roomers in school. I was gone only a few minutes, and when I returned came in the front way, and walked noiselessly up this long carpeted hallway. Johnson didn't see me until I got way back, and stood in the kitchen door. He was the trunk upside down, and was trying to chuck off the bottom."

"Why, Harry Johnson? I said to him, and stood stock still."

"He was taken entirely by surprise, and looked confused. Then he dropped the hatchet and started to go right past me out the door. I stretched out my hand, and he just put one hand against mine and shoved me aside. My finger was slightly twisted."

"You did not get my money this time did you? I called after him as he ran out."

"No, but I'll get it next time all right, you see if I don't," he called back to me."

"Johnson ran around the back and up the side of the house, jumped over the fence and started running down the street. There were eight or ten workmen around the front of the house, some of them boring holes and putting in telegraph poles. I ran out in front and called to them: 'Catch that man! Catch that man! He has just tried to rob you of the second time! Oh, beat him! Try to catch him! Not one of the men paid any attention to me, or tried to catch Johnson. I do not know any of the men's names."

"I don't think Johnson will ever be caught, for after he reads that in the Record he will get out of town right away. Probably he is out of town now. I have hired a private detective to try and catch him. I think I will petition for permission so that I can arrest him myself the next time I see him."

"Oh, I have been robbed so many times! When I came to Los Angeles I had $100, but it has been robbery after robbery—real estate agents, name thing. Then when I had a fine place of diamonds taken by a burglar. It has been nothing but loss, loss, loss."

Mrs. Dunlap, quoted in the Record as stating that she could identify the "robber," said last night: "I wonder who could have told them any such thing. No reporter saw me, and I said nothing of the kind to any one. Most assuredly I could not identify any robber. The only thing I saw was a man running past the house, and I couldn't describe him, or where he came from. The only reason I saw him at all was that my little dog always barks at any one running, and when he barked I saw from the inside some one running past."

headquarters on Los Angeles street, near the Plaza, where a reception will be tendered by the Chinese population. The guest will then be driven to his headquarters at the Angelus Hotel, over which the Imperial Chinese flag will be unfurled as he enters. After lunching with those who rode in his carriage, the visitor and his aids will make calls in the Chinese quarter, and in the evening he will address his countrymen from a stand which has been erected on Los Angeles street just south of the Plaza.

Friday night at the Angelus a banquet will be given in honor of the oriental reformer, at which a number of prominent citizens of Los Angeles will be invited guests. The following evening Dr. Ten Leung will entertain him at a private banquet at his residence on the corner of Olive and Ninth streets. Many other public banquets are being arranged in Chinatown.

After Saturday Liang Chi Chao will be the guest of Gen. Homer Lea on Bonnie Brae street. He will be here about ten days.

The committee from the Chamber of Commerce has recommended to the board of directors of that body that the chamber under the reformer a banquet under its auspices, and this will be decided at today's meeting.

Chances in South Africa.

Not only are there rich opportunities in Africa for the negro, but for the white man as well. With the growing population of the world it is inevitable that new lands should be occupied by energetic people, just as the overflow of the old world rushed into the new in the past and made the Americans of which were the seats of the most civilization known to history, has been almost neglected for centuries. Civilization, development, progress, has skirted around it, but have scarcely touched it. Now men are beginning to awaken to its value.—(Indianapolis News.)

The ship Terra Nova has now sailed from England to relieve the Discovery. The British government, which has appropriated $200,000 for the expedition, is acting without the advice of the Royal Geographical Society and the Royal Society, which originally sent the expedition, assisted by a grant from the government.

COURTESIES SHOWN TO ALGER AND BLISS.

After lunch at the tavern the party returned to the city and were met at Main and Fourth streets by a tallyho, in which they toured the business residence districts of the city. The party was here joined by J. S. Slauon of the Chamber of Commerce committee, the remaining member, Bradner W. Lee, being unable to be present.

Mr. Bliss, who is a prominent New York capitalist, and personal friend of the financiers at John D. Rockefeller and J. Pierpont Morgan, repeatedly expressed, during the drive, his extreme surprise and wonderment at the business appearance of Los Angeles, and the resources of the West in general. He stated that, from his observations, the East seems to agree with the West that Theodore Roosevelt must serve another term in the Presidential chair. Gen. Alger expressed the same opinion. The latter stated that he had heard directly from the President before leaving for the West that the predicted extra session of Congress will be called for November 8, and that if it were not for this information he had received, he would have planned for a much longer tarry on the Pacific Coast with Mr. Bliss.

Gen. Alger discussed the subject of the Isthmian Canal, and expressed great hopes for the benefits which he believes will result to the country through its construction. It appears to be his belief that the Panama project is not yet lost, and that negotiations may yet result in the canal following this route.

The newly-elected Senator expressed faith in Arthur Pue Gorman as excellent material for the head of the Democratic ticket, but said he doubted if the party leaders were wise enough to make such a selection.

The visitors returned to their car after the tour of the city, and expect to leave at an early hour this morning for San Francisco, stopping over a half day at Santa Barbara. Their trip will continue up through Oregon and Washington, where the Senator has large timber interests.

Gen. Alger and Bliss did good-bys to the reception committee.

THIRD DAY OF THE Great Reorganization Sale

Everything Ready for the Greatest Day's Selling in the History of Our Career—Big Bargains for Every Patron

There is always one day in the course of a sale during which greater bargains can be secured than at any other time. New goods, just received, are placed upon sale, stocks have been rearranged and all the prices gone over and marked down more closely than before. That day is called the Red Letter day of the sale. Wednesday is the RED LETTER DAY OF OUR great Reorganization Sale. We have gone through every department in the store and prices that were already extremely low are now down to the very lowest possible point.

But the price is not the only feature. You should see the quality of goods offered! Mountains of wanted merchandise—the output of the largest manufacturers in the United States and Europe—are ready to greet you at every turn. Quality and reliability are the trade marks of the goods. To see them is to buy and to buy them is to be well satisfied.

"Saying well is good, but doing well is better." Let us illustrate to you that we are doing more than we claim. In a limited space like this it is impossible to extol half the virtues of this great sale. Come in and see for yourself—today.

THE BUTCHERS' STRIKE IS ON.

Packing-house Men Walk Out, But Work Continues.

Retail Employers Will Stand by the Wholesalers.

Fight to a Finish is Assured if Cutters Leave Their Blocks.

"It will be a fight to the finish, and the sooner it is fought the better." This is the spirit prevailing among the wholesale butchers affected by the strike inaugurated yesterday by the Butchers' Workmen Union. According to the program, nearly 200 men, employed in the Cudahy, Maier and Hauser packing-houses put away their tools yesterday morning and walked out of the establishments, refusing their arbitrary demands. The S. J. Cudahy Packing Company has not been affected by the action of the union men, as Maier and Hauser were fully prepared for just the move that has been made. Soon after the recent trouble with union butchers Mr. Cudahy began placing non-union men, so that when the present strike was ordered he had not an adherent of organized labor in his employ. But if the strikers went out with the thought that an easy victory was certain the first day's showing will hardly reassure them. At the Hauser slaughter-house things are humming. Mr. Hauser and his boys, reinforced by several volunteer butchers, commenced operations at 9 a.m. yesterday, and when the 5 p.m. call came every demand for the day had been met and all was in readiness for the second day's struggle. This morning Mr. Hauser expects to have a full force at work, and anticipates no further trouble. Thus far his premises have not been picketed, nor are they likely to be.

So long as it operates a packing-house, said Mr. Hauser last evening, "I shall follow my own ideas as to how the work shall be done, who shall be employed, and who shall be paid, and before I'll treat with a union committee I'll see them in a more favorable light than that of which Southern California boasts. There will be no time to settle this question of difference between the union and the packers, and everyone of us is prepared to stick until we win."

RETAILERS LEND A HAND. At the Cudahy establishment the union spirit prevails. Non-union men have in a measure replaced the strikers, and while not running full handed, the company expects to be able to hold its own until the packers win out.

The Butchers' Workmen Union in ordering this strike is banking on possible sympathetic strikes of the cutters and teamsters. "This is a desperate move," said a retail butcher, "and a broken reed, as the retail butchers and wholesalers are such a powerful force for just such a move. The cutters will base their grievances upon the fact that the retail employers are pledged to render every assistance to the whole sale. If there should prove to be a sympathy of competent men the retail employers will go into the slaughter-house and take out their own meat. In fact this was done yesterday, leaving the cutters but one alternative—to handle 'unfair' meat or get out. In the event of the latter, the retail employers are men sufficient to take their place, and some knife welders now holding down a good job will have a chance to keep on working, without being 'delegated,' and minus a salary. The cutters' union will probably take action this evening."

AS TO TEAMSTERS. As for the teamsters' union, it is thought that the conservative element in the organization will prevent a sympathetic strike. But should the radical element prevail and the teamsters surrender their teams, the employers have a job for every job thrown up.

Among the packing-house men and the retail employers but one sentiment prevails. All feel that there is nothing to be gained by compromise. It only means disaster for the future. So the battle will be fought to a finish. Every reasonable demand has been made, and the packers are ready to face the issue.

An Echo of the Struggle. Two months ago he was worth a million. "In rail checks or street car transfers." "No, in stocks." "Same thing."—(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

SANTA MONICA BEANS SELL LIKE HOT CAKES.

FIFTY tons per day of Lima beans grown in the Santa Monica district are being run through a cleaner at a Santa Monica warehouse and a large proportion of that quantity is being cleaned by a like machine at a warehouse at Palms. The receiving of beans hauled from the field and the shipment of the cleaned product to the world's markets are also proceeding rapidly. A large part of the crop is being stored to await cleaning and shipment.

When it was seen that the crop of the Santa Monica fields would be a large one R. C. Gillis and W. T. Gillis, his brother, purchased the Jones & Baker warehouse, just east of Santa Monica and afterward sold it to the Southwest Warehouse Company, officers of which are: President, J. E. Cook; secretary, C. P. McFarland; manager, C. H. Haynes; treasurer, Los Angeles Trust Company.

Beans are being shipped away as fast as the cleaners can turn them out. In order to fill orders which have kept coming from the East. Each warehouse is equipped with electric service for lighting and power. The cleaners are operated by electric motors and the stored beans are piled with the aid of electric elevators. As the beans come from the thrashers in the field they are fairly clean, but there are occasional lumps of earth and fragments of beans split by the cylinder teeth of the thrasher.

In the cleaner the beans are run over a rather long series of steel sheets in constant agitation and perforated with holes through which nearly all the fragments drop, while the whole beans are carried over the sheets, a powerful blower and other apparatus clear away dust and earth fragments, so that when the beans have passed through the machine they are in very good condition for market. The uncleaned beans are brought from the thrashers as they are threshed. The sacks are emptied and are afterward refilled with the cleaned beans.

The beans of the Santa Monica district are even in quality and when the growers deliver their beans to the warehouse they get warehouse receipts in exchange for them. The warehouses

It's Me.

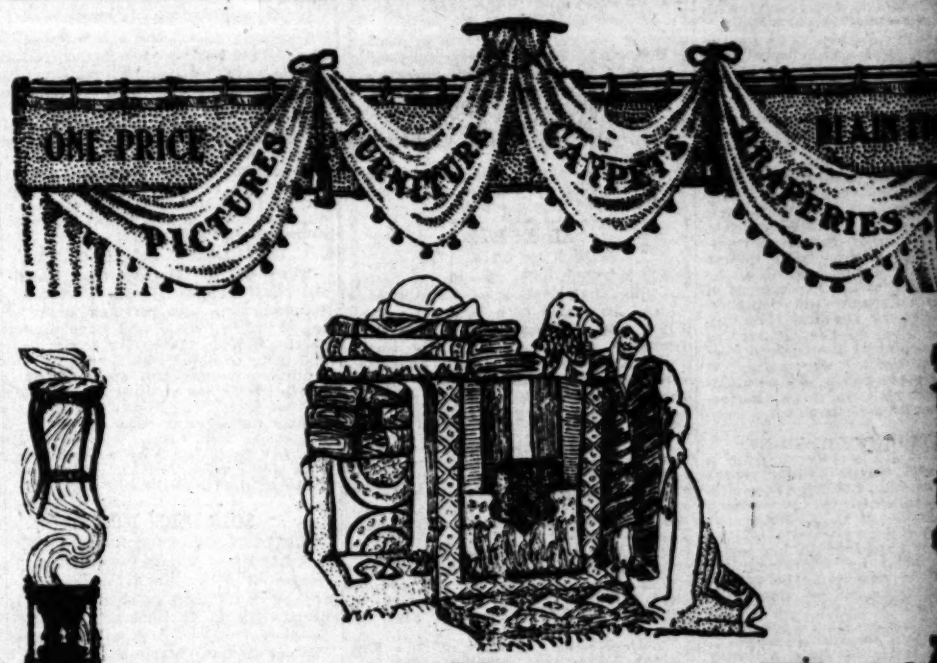

"Now, children," said the teacher, "let us see what you remember about the animal kingdom and the domestic animals that belong to it. You have named all the domestic animals but one. Who can tell me what that animal is? It has a long neck, like a giraffe, and is fond of getting into the mud?" Miss Fanny looked expectantly around the room. "Can't you think, Tommy?" she asked encouragingly. "Yes, me,"—(Christian Register.)

Spared the Old Man. "Dad," said the rural youngster to his home-returning parent, "what do you reckon has done took an' happened?" "How kin I tell?" "The lightning 'n' thunder has kilt yer two brindle cows, an' five hogs. That's bad, my son, but I've been everywhere. Providence knowed I wuz away from home, and took advantage of my absence."—(Atlanta Constitution.)
